ACADEMIC CONTENT

Overall objective	A specialisation course aims to allow students to immerse themselves in the theories/theory lines and empirical issues pertaining to a particular subject area. The course equips students to competently select and argue for the applicability and relevance of a theory/theory line to given issues. The courses offered are based on the Institute's research in the field and knowledge of the highest international standard. The specific subject area of the courses will be described in the activity description.
Detailed description of content	Advanced Study Seminars offers students insight for instance into how international politics impacts governance, how governance impacts politics, and what this means for the ability of international institutions, governments, and other organizations to help address current issues such as climate, environment, security, digitalization, and public health. This Advanced Seminar focuses on security challenges in the 21st century and how intergovernmental organisations address these. The course analyses these institutions' decision-making, implementation and management of policies related to security matters. The seminar recurs on the three mandatory courses and analyses the impact of changing international balances of power and the role of institutions and international civil servants to approach these security issues.
Course material and Reading list	Mixing 'classics' and latest litt. Classics would include: David Singer, Robert Jervis, Jack Snyder, Stephan Walt etc.
Overall plan and expected work effort	Classes: The course consists of lectures, but students are expected to actively participate by asking questions and contribute to class discussions Preparation: As part of the course, the student is expected to prepare for classes by reading assigned texts for the given session. Teachers in turn pledge to make use of the students' preparation in the teaching. The course is 10 ECTS, which total 270 hours. Class attendance 13*90 min = 19,5 hours Preparation for class 13*16 hours = 208 hours Exam preparation = 41,5 hours

Exam = 1 hour
